

"The whole point of the McCain Amendment was to close every loophole. The president has re-opened the loophole by asserting the constitutional authority to act in violation of the statute."

- Marty Lederman, Professor of Law, Georgetown University, 4 Jan 2006, The Boston Globe

The U.S. government is committing torture against the will of its citizens, flouting international law and violating the moral values of all who respect human rights. They must stop. Now.

We have to do something. It's up to us.
